Greetings!

I just put the finishing touches on a new format for the training, Clinical Supervision Foundations II (CSF II). And, it has fewer classroom hours!

When you or your staff attend professional development, coverage is hard or impossible to find, and this absence taxes an already stretched-thin workforce.

Yet, for Advanced or Master CASACs, CSF II is an OASAS requirement. Anyone in a supervisory role in an OASAS facility must also complete this training.

Take Clinical Supervision Foundation II and get the full 16 hours with just 3, four-hour training days and four hours of structured homework. This new format is OASAS-approved and includes assignments completed outside of class time and at the learner's convenience.

Get the same quality training with less time away from your job.

I am very excited to offer this training, as Clinical Supervision Foundations II is one of my favorite trainings for existing and aspiring supervisors. My training and experience as a supervisor in a large, hospital-based, inner-city SUD treatment program that included a large SAMHSA grant for pregnant women, gave me practical experience that I apply to the theories presented in the SAMHSA/OASAS curriculum.

This small group virtual training allows you to apply the material to your current work environment through break-out groups, large and small group discussions, and immersive activities.

My Master's in Adult Learning taught me that you must relate the material to its practical application to retain and use professional development. As a member of Motivational Interviewing Network Trainers, I bring the principles of MI as an added way of engaging with those you supervise and motivating them toward professional development.

As an added benefit, there is a significant discount for registering three or more individuals for the training. This could be three staff, paid for by an organization, or three individuals registering together.

Use the code MULTIPLE to enjoy the group discount. Organizations can be invoiced for the training as well.

I hope to see you at our next training on October 26, 27, and 30.

See you there!
Sandy

PS. The Clinical Supervision Foundation I is a pre-requisite and is entirely online. To participate in Clinical Supervision II, your completion certificate for CSF I must emailed to me by October 24, 2023.
